LANDLORD'S TESTIMONY.

Thinks the Record Accurate, But Does Not Ask Jury to Believe Everything - Witnesses Tell of Mrs. Bonine's Conduct.

The feature of the proceedings in the Bonine trial vesterday came when William W. Warfield, the former proprietor of the Kenmore, was recalled to the stand by District Attorney Gould, and examined as to the accuracy of the register of the Kenmore Hotel.

"It's accurate as far as I know," he asserted.

"Ah," exclaimed Mr. Gould, "as far as you know. I see here," indicating a page of the book, "that on the 23d of September, in the same unknown year, the pame of Grover Cleveland, Princeton, N.

A titter run through the court room and Judge Andersen masked a smile under his blande moustache.

Not Positive.

"Do you mean to say that is nothentic?" Might have been some other Grover Cleveland," answered the witness "Do you ask the jury to believe that, sir?" demanded Mr. Gould, sharply. Warfield gared at the jury as if they were the least possible portion of his life, as he said, grimly: "No; I don't ask 'em

"Then why do you introduce it as evidence?" retorted the District Attorney, sharply. "Step aside."

The defence occupied the entire day with witnesses who testified to Mrs. Donine's conduct toward men while living at the Kenmore. Every one of them declared that within their knowledge she displayed no more regard for Ayres than was com patible with her position as a wife and Fondness for Dancing.

Their testimony brought out her intense the art she so loved. An attempt on the give substance to the insinuations that have been made against Ayres as a driaking man, met with a severe rebuke from the District Attorney.

George H. Post was on the stand and was asked by Mr. Keene if he had ever drank any liquor with Ayres. "I object," said Mr. Gould, jumping up "The objection is well taken," ruled Judge Anderson.

"It is a rather indelicate question," admitted counsel, "and I withdraw it." "I don't object because of its indellcacy," replied Mr. Gould, caustically, "but because it is irrelevant and manifestly

Defendant in Fine Spirits.

Mrs. Bonine was in splendid spirits yeaterday morning, indeed, as she always is, and felt cheered by the presence of her sister. Pearl Hemry, who arrived here from St. Joseph, Mo., earlier in the day. She would have been with her sister earlier, but for the illness of their mother.

Sitting close behind Mrs. Bonine was her husband's old friend and employer. Mr. E. C. DeWitt, of DeWitt & Co., Chibeen for thirteen years. He arrived here

Mr. Warfield was called to the stand to prove by the Kenmore register Mr. Bonine's presence in the hotel on the Sunday when the defence claimed Emma Brown testified she saw Mrs. Bonine coming out of Ayres' room.

Mr. Gould said even if Mr. Bonine's name appeared on the register some one else might have written it.

Mr. Bonine's Signature.

Mr. Douglass said he would show every entry of Mr. Bonine's name, except in one instance, was in his own handwriting. Mr. Bonine's name appeared on the following days: April 28, May 5, May 12, May 18. The first three dates fell on

Mr. Warfield refused to swear as to the renuineness of the signatures; but said Mr. Bonine was in the house on the days

Mr. Gould then questioned the witness regarding the lock that was placed on Ayres' door by his request, to prevent certain persons from entering his room,

Gentlemen: In my work as a monologist, singer and entertainer. I frequently find the stream on my throat so exhausting as to practically make it impossible for me to continue without resorting to a tonic. A long lecture often leaves me with a very sore and hoarse throat, and at such times I find DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP simply invaluable as a soother and strengthener. So much do I think of this remedy that I am never at home without a bottle of it, and on my tours through the country I never fall to include DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP in my grip. In fact, it is as essential to my success as are my songs, stories or violin. Very truly yours. RALPH BINGHAM.

The wife of Mr. Warfield then gave her opinion of Mrs. Bonine's actions at the Kenmore, saying that she exhibited no particular affinity for Ayres and seemed to treat all men alike. She said she had never seen Agres and Mrs. Bonine to gether except when a dance was going on.

MEADE'S COUNSEL REPROVED. Judge Advocate Declares His Sum.

ming an Attack on Witnesses. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.- The trial of Col tobert L. Meade, of the Marine Corps which has been going on for weeks at the navy yard, ended today with the summing up of the counsel for the accused officer and of the judge advocate. Mr emple summed up for Colonel Meade.

"Major Lauchheimer," said he, "ac cepted Colonel Meade's invitation. He put his feet and legs under this man's fining table, he took two drinks with him, and then afterward, in a report, had the effrontery to say that the colonel's conduct at the inspection which followed eas such that he believed he had been was such that he believed he had been drinking. He knew this as a fact, for he had taken as many drinks himself, and taken them as the colonel's guest." In regard to Colonel Denny, Mr. Semple said he disclaimed for his ellent any charge that he had been guilty of irregu-lar financial transactions with the archi-tect. "But I do charge," said he, "that his conduct was scandalous to write to the architect and secure reports from him and his men to bolster up his own assertion that the colonel was intoxiated. That was rank collusion

Judge Advocate Niblick denounced Mr. Semple's summing up as an assault upon the officers who had testified. The trial was then declared closed. The opinion is general that the accused officer will be acquitted.

A Thoughtless Druggist.

NLY a thoughtless druggist would offer a preparation without the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when Castoria is called for; the "delicate, faint and flickering light" that joins baby's life to its devoted parents being too sacred, to the self-respecting druggist, to be trifled with.

For over thirty years Mr. Fletcher has given, and still gives, his personal attention to the preparation of Castoria, It has won the confidence of mothers and physicians everywhere-never harmed the tiniest babe. This cannot be said of Imitations, Counterfeits and the "Just-as-good" rot.

The thoughtless druggist only offers the counterfeit because of a few pennies more profit. Any new preparation can be but an experiment, and they are experiments-mere guess work-irrespective of what their sponsors may say for them.
